ATTACKED THE FOE.

Battle Was Prearranged by the Allied Forces.

AMERICAN TROOPS ENGAGED.

Dispatch From General Chaffee Gives Plans For the Attack.

DID NOT BLUNDER UPON THE ENEMY

Strategic Importance of Reaching Yang Tsun — Unless Chinese Are Demoralized by Defeat the International Forces May Expect Severe Fighting All the Way to Peking.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The war department has received the following cablegram from General Chaffee:

"Tien Tsin, August 3.—Conferences today decided to begin the battle Sunday. Chinese entrenched east and west through Peitsang. Rest of Chinese protected by flooded ground practically unassailable. Japanese, English and Americans forces about 10,000 strong attacked Chinese right, west of river in flank. Other forces, Russian, French, about 4,000 strong, opposite side between river and railroad. Chinese position apparently strong. Army reported 30,000 between Pebang and Yang Tsun on crossing of road Pei-Ho. Yang Tsun objective. Our force 2,000 and battery. Conemaugh arrived. Sixth cavalry left at Tien Tsin for guard of city and awaiting mounts. Ministers safe July 28. CHAFFEE."

Washington, Aug. 7.—The dispatch of General Chaffee written before the battle of Sunday confirms the dispatches received at the navy department and later press dispatches concerning the attack on the Chinese at Peitsang. The most interesting feature of the dispatch is the information regarding the positions of the Chinese army and the fact that the advance upon Peking is made by two columns, one on each side of the Pei-Ho river.

American Troops Engaged. The Americans who participated were the Ninth and Fourteenth regiments, artillery battery and the marines.

The international force as given by General Chaffee, would aggregate about 14,000 men, while the other dispatches say 16,000, but this difference can easily be accounted for, as more men might have been available when the movement began than when the conference was held August 3. This conference is supposed to have been between the several commanders present at Tien Tsin. It is evident that the foreign commanders do not underestimate the task before them, as the dispatch shows a thorough reconnaissance of the Chinese position had been made and even before the advance of the international force from Tien Tsin, the commanders were in possession of full information relative to the Chinese position. This is one of the most welcome features of the dispatch as it proves conclusively the international column did not blunder upon an entrenched position of the enemy.

The town, Peitsang, covers both sides of the Pei river, but the main portion of it is on the left side where the Japanese, English and American forces arranged to attack the enemy in flank. The left of the Chinese on the other side of the river, according to the dispatch, was partially protected by flooded ground and practically unassailable for that reason. According to the map, there is a lake five miles from the river at this point and canals which gridiron the country thereabout. The Russian and French force were to attack the enemy's left on the right bank of the river between the river and the railroad.

This makes it probable that the flooded district extended only to the line of the railroad, about a mile and a half from the river.

Moving on Yang Tsun.

General Chaffee's dispatch shows another important feature of the plan of campaign agreed upon by the international commanders. It is that the present objective point of the column is Yang Tsun, a town about 15 miles beyond Peitsang, where the railroad crosses the Pei river from the right on the way to Peking. Once in possession of this point, the international force would have both the railroad and river in its rear for keeping open communication with Tien Tsin. It naturally would become the advance base from which operations on Peking could be projected.

The Chinese evidently are so much impressed with the strategic advantages of Yang Tsun as the international commanders themselves, as the enemy is reported 30,000 strong at the crossing of the road over the Pei river. Without doubt after the fight at Peitsang the Chinese force, if the report of Admiral Remey that the Chinese were forced to retreat proves correct, retired to Yang Tsun. There is no information as to the number of the enemy which met the advance at Peitsang, but judging from the casualties to the international force, it must have been large and may perhaps double the Chinese army which the column must encounter when it reaches Yang Tsun.

The general feeling at the war department is that unless the Chinese generals have been completely demoralized by the Peitsang attack, there is very severe fighting ahead for the international forces and that the ground will be disputed all the way to Peking.

BRUTAL RUSSIANS.

Returned Missionary Says They Committed Heinous Atrocities.

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—A story of Russian brutality in China is told by Mrs. E. B. Drew, wife of the British commander of customs at Tien Tsin, who arrived on the transport Logan. She says: "During the bombardment we lived most of the time in the cellar of our house, which was partially wrecked by shells. Sleep was out of the question and so unstrung were we that little food satisfied us. There was ever present the haunting fear of the Chinese triumphing and slaughtering every foreigner and convert. Some, probably all, of the women were prepared to act in case the Chinese effected an entrance, but it appears the allied officers were prepared to act. I did not know it at the time, but I learned later that 10 or 20 men had been detailed to kill all the foreign women in case the Chinese were the victors."

Mrs. Drew, with much indignation, spoke of atrocities committed by Russian troops, saying: "They pillaged, looted, tortured and murdered right and left. There were many infants and children killed by bayonet thrusts. And many were tossed from bayonet points only to be caught and again tossed time and again. There is ample evidence of these unspeakable occurrences."

"Out from Tien Tsin, along the Pei-Ho and Yellow rivers are numerous little villages. The Russians swept through the villages destroying life and property. The Russians also drove women and children into the Pei-Ho and Yellow rivers, where they were drowned. There was no attempt at concealing all of the remarkably barbarous conduct. I do not pretend to say how many women and children were butchered by the Russians. I never heard the number estimated, save that a great many had been bayoneted and some shot."

RETURNING REFUGES

Tell Tales of Horror Inflicted by Boxers and by Locots.

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—Among the refugees from China who returned on the Logan, were the wife of Prof. C. D. Tenney, of the Imperial university at Tien Tsin and her children. They were among those who took refuge in Gordon hall during the bombardment and escaped uninjured. Miss Lillie M. Tahr of Lincoln City, Ind., who spent two years in Tien Tsin, had three narrow escapes from the Boxers. Two children of United States Consul Ragsdale tell stories of exciting experience. The tales of Russian brutality are confirmed by Rev. Frank Haynes, a Methodist missionary.

Prof. Clifford, who was one of the last to leave the besieged city says: "Looting by the allied forces began as soon as they got the upper hand. The Russians led in this and went to extremes. They are naturally cruel and expecting no mercy, they showed none. I was an eye witness to eight cold-blooded murders by them. The victims were old and infirm Chinese. The Russians stole everything in sight, looting the houses in the settlement as the Chinese would have done."

Martinelli Invited.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Archbishop Martinelli, the papal delegate, has been invited to attend the consecration of Bishop-elect Henry Moeller of Columbus, O., Aug. 15, but owing to other business he will probably be unable to participate in the brilliant festivity which will bring together many prelates of the country. Mr. Moeller succeeds the late Bishop J. Ambrose Waterson, who died last year.

BRING IN THE BOOKS.

Prosecution Wants to Prove That Culton Got His Pay.

DISPUTE AS TO WHERE GOBEL FELL.

One Witness Heard That Guilty Parties Were Hiding in State House—Mountaineers Were Average Citizens.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 7.—The prosecution in the Powers case was granted a subpoena duces tecum on State Auditor Coulter requiring him to bring his records into court. This is done to contradict the testimony of ex-Auditor Sam Stone, who testified that he discharged W. H. Culton in December and charged him with stealing $1,000. The prosecution expects to show by the record that Culton was paid his salary in both December and January and by other witnesses to prove that since that date Stone recommended Culton to various people as being entirely trustworthy. The defense asked and was granted a forthwith attachment against E. E. Hogg, Culton's brother-in-law and attorney, who had been subpoenaed but failed to appear as a witness.

W. J. Lewis of Frankfort testified that Goebel fell at least 10 feet from the spot marked by the prosecution as the spot where he fell.

George L. Barnes, who was a clerk in the state auditor's office, gave a detailed account of the occurrences on the state capitol grounds the day of the shooting. He heard several persons say that the guilty parties were being concealed in the executive building and ought to be blown up. Barnes said that after he went back into the executive building he smelled smoke, which he supposed was the result of the shots. He saw Whittaker arrested by a party of citizens. They took several pistols from him. Prior to the assassination witness saw a Marlin rifle in the vault at the auditor's office.

He formerly belonged to Henry Youtsey, but at the time of the shooting it belonged to Grant Oberts who has since been appointed a clerk in the census bureau at Washington. Does not know where the rifle is now. Witness talked with Oberts about the disappearance of the gun but the court ruled he could not detail the conversation, neither Powers nor Youtsey being present when the talk occurred. John B. Hurst of Corbin testified that he was in Frankfort several times in January. The last time he went was with the mountaineers January 25. More than half of the men were armed. He contradicted several of the statements of Robert Noakes. Hurst declared that the men in the mountain army were average mountain citizens and closed by stating that he had himself been a delegate to the Republican national convention.

"Did you see any of the alleged assassins of Governor Goebel at that convention?" asked Attorney Golden. The witness said that he did not, but afterwards said he saw ex-Governor Taylor there. Hurst admitted that he had been indicted and tried for forgery at Knoxville, Tenn., but that there was no prosecution.

WISCONSIN REPUBLICANS

Many Favor Nomination of State Candidates by Direct Vote.

Milwaukee, Aug. 7.—The Republican state convention Wednesday will select a complete state ticket and elect a new chairman of the Republican state central committee. Robert M. La Follette, former congressman of the Second district, will receive the nomination for governor without opposition, and the balance of the ticket will be made up of the present incumbents, all of whom will be nominated by acclamation. H. C. Adams, state dairy and food commissioner, has been selected as temporary chairman of the convention.

One of the chief features of the platform to be adopted is a plank which will probably be inserted, advocating the enactment of a law by the next legislature favoring nominations of state officers by a direct vote of the people, thus doing away with state conventions.

Sold at Auction.

Cincinnati, Aug. 7.—At Newport, Ky., the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse company's property was sold at auction under order of court by James C. Ernest to W. E. Hutton for $1,500,000. The property is located in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Tennessee. The new organization will be known as the Tobacco Warehouse company.

SOLDIERS FIGHTING FIRE.

Forests in Yellowstone Park are Being Devastated.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 7.—The big fire raging in Yellowstone National park is being fought by every soldier in the park and all the men engaged in road construction work. Deputy United States Marshal Jackson who has returned from there and who reported the fire, said when he left it was reported that the fire had extended for a distance of 10 miles and was still spreading.

Men who have been in the park for years said it was the worst they had ever seen. Deer and elk have been driven out the fire area by the flames. Buildings in the upper geyser basin are in danger.

In the dense timber region everything is unusually dry and winds are carrying the flames with great rapidity. In Marshal Jackson's opinion it will be impossible for the force engaged to make any headway against the fire.

Suffocated in a Well.

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—Johnnie, nine-year-old son of W. R. Hoffman, a stone worker employed on the state house addition, was fatally suffocated by fire damp in an abandoned well. His brother, William, aged 15, and John Jenkins, J. L. Ruckman and Samuel Craft, employees at the B. & O. shops who tried to rescue the boy were all seriously affected by the gas. Jenkins had a narrow escape, and lay for an hour unconscious, though able to stand when taken out. Johnnie was playing in the yard with his ball which rolled into the well. There was no water in the well, and he thought it would be an easy matter to climb down and get it.

Killed His Wife's Sister.

Cincinnati, Aug. 7.—John W. Jolly of Newport Ky., shot and killed Lottie Kleekamp, his wife's sister, and mortally wounded his wife, at the home of their parents in Newport, Ky. Jolly and his wife have recently been living in Hamilton, O. Owing to domestic disagreements, Mrs. Jolly left her husband and returned to her father's home. Jolly came after his wife with a revolver. Meeting her sister at the door and being refused admission he shot her dead. His wife hearing his voice and the shot, turned to flee and he shot her in the back. Jolly was wildly violent, threatening to shoot everybody, but was finally overpowered and placed in jail.

Four Prospects For Prospectors.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 7.—The steamer Corwin has returned to Nome from the Siberian coast. The Corwin reports having pulled the steamer Progress and a Russian vessel from the ice pack. The owners of the Russian and Progress have a large mining concession in Siberia and the owners of the Corwin crossed the straits to see what there was on the Russian side. They took a number of the miners who went over in the hope of doing some prospecting, but the ice was still thick in the beds of the creeks. After a stay of a week the Corwin returned with her party.

Uneventful Day.

Canton, O., Aug. 7.—President and Mrs. McKinley took their usual drive about the city. At lunch they entertained Comptroller of the Currency Charles G. Dawes, who stopped over on his way from Chicago to Washington. There was the usual number of callers and the usual official business from Washington. Aside from this the day was uneventful.

Caleb's Brother.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 7.—John L. Powers, brother of Caleb Powers, has opened a law office in Harlan Court House and announces that the result of Caleb's trial will decide whether he will give himself up. He says if Caleb is acquitted or it is a mistrial all those under indictment including Governor Taylor will go to Frankfort.

Millionaire's Daughter Eloped.

Youngstown, O., Aug. 7.—William Zigfried, jeweler and Miss Grace Wells, daughter of Thomas H. Wells, a retired millionaire, secured a marriage license and eloped. No trace of the couple has been obtained. Miss Wells is 18. Her father had repeatedly ordered Zigfried away from the house.

Cowes, Aug. 7.—In the regatta of the royal yacht squadron Tuesday the race for the queen's cup was finished by Emperor William's yacht Meteor in 2:27:45. The Satanita's time was 2:30:15. As the Meteor allowed the Satanita 25 minutes the later won the cup.

Paris, Aug. 7.—At the cabinet council it was announced that the French government had received no advices tending to show that the advance of the allied forces on Peking had been decided upon.

BRYAN IN CHICAGO.

Given an Enthusiastic Reception Upon His Arrival.

SAVING HIS VOICE FOR INDIANAPOLIS.

At the Sherman House Bryan and Stevenson Met and Standing Side by Side Shook Hands With Many People.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—William J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for the presidency, arrived in Chicago on the Burlington railroad at 9:30 a. m. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bryan, their son, Governor and Mrs. Thomas of Colorado, and John I. Martin, sergeant-at-arms of the Kansas City convention. The party was met at the Union depot by a local committee, several clubs, among which was the Nebraska Bryan club of Chicago, and a large number of citizens, who gave them an enthusiastic greeting.

Mr. Bryan's first appearance was made at Aurora at 6:20 a. m. He was called to the rear platform by the cries of a large crowd. Hon. Samuel Alschuler, Democratic nominee for Illinois greeted Mr. Bryan and was invited into his car. There were demands for a speech, but none was made. Instead, Mr. Bryan took his position on the steps of the rear platform and shook hands with the people crowded about. He told them he desired to reserve his voice for Wednesday, and must, therefore, decline to talk.

Mr. Alschuler introduced a number of friends and the train soon moved out. As it started, there was a cheer for "the next president" from the crowd.

When Mr. Bryan emerged from the train in Chicago, he looked cool and fresh, clean and bright, appearing well prepared for an arduous day. A committee of citizens who made up a party headed by Mayor Harrison and Robert E. Burke and Frank Winter, the latter appearing as a representative of the German-American clubs of this city, with other leaders were admitted inside the station gates. Their followers sent up a lusty cheer as the national leader came into sight, but notwithstanding the presence of probably a thousand people at the station, there was scant ceremony at that point. After a few hearty handshakes, Mr. Bryan and his party were escorted to waiting carriages and driven to the Sherman house.

The party made its way through the throng at the depot with some difficulty and Mr. Bryan was frequently compelled during the short walk, to stop and shake hands with insistent admirers.

At the Sherman house, Mr. Bryan was immediately ushered into a parlor on the ground floor where he was soon joined by Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for vice president. They greeted each other cordially and standing side by side shook hands with a great number of people.

In the party accompanying Mr. Stevenson were Mrs. Stevenson, Lewis G. Stevenson and Miss Letitia Stevenson, all of whom made the trip to Indianapolis.

Samuel Alschuler, Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois and Mayor Harrison joined the party at the hotel shortly after its arrival there. The crowds continued to file past Messrs. Bryan and Stevenson until 11:30, when the reception came to an end and the party prepared to start to Indianapolis.

A special train carrying the entire party departed over the Big Four at 1:30 p. m. Every inch of available space was occupied and many disappointed Democrats were left behind because they could not even find standing room.

Arrangements Completed.

Indianapolis, Aug. 7.—Everything is in readiness for the meeting to notify Bryan and Stevenson of their nomination president and vice president by the Democratic party. The exercises at the park will begin at 2:30 and will last two hours. Mr. Richardson of Tennessee and Governor Thomas of Colorado will make the addresses of notification and replies will be made by both Mr. Bryan and Mr. Stevenson. Webster Davis will also address the audience. One hundred Democratic clubs and thousands of visitors will be in attendance.

New York, Aug. 7.—The directors of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey have declared a dividend of $8 per share, payable September 15. In June 10 per cent was distributed, and in March 20 per cent.

The Republican Administration doesn't seem inclined to push the Neeley and Ratbone cases to trial. Probably Hanna doesn't want them tried until after the election.

At the county elections in Tennessee last week the Democrats made big gains all over the State and especially in East Tennessee, the hotbed of Tennessee Republicanism. In the home county of Brownlow, the Democrats won, something almost unheard of in the county and section. This county heretofore Republican by 1,000 majority, went Democratic by 100 votes. Going over the result of the election in about sixty-five or seventy counties some startling figures can be found. Out of these counties exactly seventeen giving Republican majorities, or being very close in the gubernatorial race of 1896, have been transferred to the Democratic column, or are on the road. In these counties, known to the Republicans as certain, the Democrats made very heavy inroads, gaining many thousand votes. They voted three to one in favor of the Republicans in 1898.

NOTWITHSTANDING that Commonwealth's Attorney Robert Franklin had, over his own signature, denied the truth of "Tallow Dick" Combs' "confession" published in the Cincinnati Enquirer, The Bulletin reprinted the whole mess of lies and palmed them off on its unsuspecting readers as the truth. Shame!—Public Ledger.

What is the editor of the Ledger trying to get through his "cocoanut," anyhow? Mr. Franklin says in plain words, "Combs did make a statement," but adds that the story published in the Enquirer is "not a correct report of what Combs had to say." Before the BULLETIN republished the Enquirer article Combs admitted to Attorney Wood Dunlap that he did make a statement to the prosecution, but that Caleb Powers' office was not mentioned, and that the Enquirer did not "correctly state the amount of money which Hockersmith had told him Youtsey had offered him." The BULLETIN published this along with the article, and "palmed off no lies on its unsuspecting readers as the truth." When the editor of the Ledger stated otherwise, he willfully and knowingly misrepresented the facts.

THE POWERS' TRIAL

"As Clear a Case of Conspiracy as Was Ever Formed by Any Gang of Brigands."

[Indianapolis Sentinel.]

It is seldom indeed that circumstantial evidence alone, aside from the admissions by parties more or less implicated, shows so conclusively a case of conspiracy, and no man who is not besotted with politics can fail to see in it as clear a case of conspiracy as was ever formed by any gang of brigands or pirates or anarchists that ever lived. And Powers practically confessed it all.

[Boston Advertiser.]

Powers now asks the public to believe and the jury to declare that he is not an accessory to the murder of Goebel. Caleb Powers seems to be the kind of man, who, after having thrown a lighted match into a pile of shavings, would be surprised and shocked to see the shavings catch fire.

[Peoria Herald.]

The whole story as unfolded by this witness and corroborated by several others presents a sickening picture of cold-blooded conspiracy on the part of the creatures of candidate Taylor and of pitiable indecision and cowardice on the part of Taylor himself. No fair-minded man doubts for a moment that the killing of Goebel was the result of a plot on the part of his political opponents, and very few people doubt that Taylor had guilty knowledge of the affair, if he did not actually have a hand in it. If he were innocent he should go back to Kentucky and clear his name from the charge of conspiracy and murder. He has nothing to fear but the law, and just how much he should fear that is a question of which he is the best judge himself. His flight from the State is certainly an evidence that he does not believe he could be acquitted on the charges against him.

KENTUCKY CROPS.

Outlook Good for an Excellent Yield of Corn and Tobacco—Weekly Weather Bulletin.

Very warm weather prevailed during the week, the temperature being above normal every day. Showers occurred in many places on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th; these showers were generally light, but in some localities in the extreme northern portion of the State they were very heavy and were accompanied by severe wind and hail, causing considerable damage to crops; the area thus injured is not extensive.

Wheat threshing progressed well during the latter part of the week, and the results are very satisfactory in yield and quality.

Corn has improved rapidly and is now very promising.

Tobacco in most localities has advanced wonderfully and the prospects for this crop is now excellent; there are very few worms attacking the plants.

Oats have been harvested with excellent results. Pastures are generally in fine condition and stock looking well. Millet is making a very rapid growth.

Farm work is fairly well up. Considerable plowing for winter wheat has been done.

Go out to the fair this afternoon and give it a good start.

BOURKE COCKRAN

Is For Bryan and Stevenson on the Paramount Issue.

[New York World.]

Bourke Cockran will vote for Bryan and Stevenson. He will also take the stump for the Kansas City ticket.

This statement is made on authority of a friend who has talked with Mr. Cockran and knows how he feels. When asked yesterday if he would support Bryan and Stevenson Mr. Cockran replied:

"I may give my views on the issues before the people in a few days. When I arrive at a decision I generally give the reasons for my action."

"Then you have decided how you will vote?" he was asked.

"I decided that on July 5," was the reply. The Democratic platform was adopted on that date, and this remark of Mr. Cockran is rather significant. Imperialism was made the paramount issue, and Mr. Cockran has opposed by voice and pen the imperialistic policy of the McKinley administration.

CAPT. C. G. CADY.

One of Maysville's Old and Well Known Citizens Passes Away After a Lingered Illness.

Capt. C. G. Cady, whose critical condition has been frequently mentioned of late, died this morning at 4:30 o'clock at his home on Limestone street.

A year or so ago he suffered a partial stroke of paralysis and had been confined to his home almost ever since. His case in some respects was rather remarkable, from a medical standpoint. Through his long decline, he never suffered a pain. His appetite remained good until a month or so ago, when one day, while he was sitting at the table, his desire for food suddenly left him, and from that on he took but little nourishment. The vital forces gradually failed and he passed away as in a sleep.

Capt. Cady was born in Providence, R. I., but had been a resident of Maysville for sixty years. He was seventy-nine years old this month.

In his younger days he was among Maysville's leading citizens, and served the city two terms as Mayor. For a number of years he was a member of the firm of Hunt & Cady, who conducted a large cigar factory. During the war he was Captain of the "Mason Rifles," of the Kentucky State Guard.

His wife, who was Miss Mary A. Duncan, survives, and he leaves seven children, five sons—William, of Washington City, Herbert, of Chicago, and Howard, Walter and Frank, of this city,—and two daughters, Mrs. L. M. Mills and Mrs. J. T. Kackley. He also leaves two sisters,—Mrs. Rebecca Wilson, of this city, and Mrs. Lou Ross, of Chicago.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Mills. Howard T. Cree, of the Christian Church, of which deceased had long been a faithful member, will conduct the service. Burial in the Maysville Cemetery.

The Wiedemann Company played to a well-filled house last night. The play, "About Town," gave good satisfaction. Specialties were new and enjoyed by all. To-night the company will appear in the beautiful society comedy-drama, "In Old Virginia." It is full of beautiful situations, has a fine story and Miss Nellie Wiedemann in the character of "Gay Howard" is charming. Saturday night $20 in gold will be given away to the lucky number.

Mrs. M. KEARNEY passed through the city Tuesday on her way home to Cincinnati, whence she was called by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Daise. She came up Sunday, and had an exciting experience on her way out to the home of her daughter in the county. When the driver of the conveyance got out to open the gate leading off the pike, the horse ran off, turning the buggy over and throwing Mrs. Kearney and her young daughter out, injuring them so that they could be of no assistance to her sick daughter and children.

SHELBY P. CAMPBELL.

A Former Well Known Citizen Dies Tuesday, July 31st, at His Home in Williamsburg, Ohio.

[Williamsburg, O., News, Aug. 4th.]

Shelby P. Campbell, the well known druggist, who came to this place two years ago and engaged in business, died Tuesday night and was buried Thursday at 10 o'clock in the Williamsburg Cemetery. He was born in Bradyville, Adams County, O., and was nearly forty-eight years of age.

His young manhood was spent in Maysville, Ky., in which city he learned the drug business with the old firm of January & Lloyd, and later engaged with the wholesale house of Hamilton Gray, of that city, as book-keeper, traveling salesman, and for a time as joint manager.

Mr. Campbell was a member of Maysville Lodge No. 52, F. and A. M., and of DeKalb Lodge No. 12, I. O. O. F., of Maysville. In that city he was widely known and popular.

Mr. Campbell was an intense American and an active worker in organizing camps of Sons of Veterans throughout Southern Ohio. He was a member of Power Campbell Camp, S. of V., of Aberdeen, O. Mr. Campbell was a genial, big-hearted man, and made warm friendships wherever he went.

He leaves a wife and one daughter, who have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement. He had been a sufferer from dropsy for several weeks.

THE Danville fair is in progress this week and business is generally suspended in that city. The banks all close at 1 p. m.

VICTOR SEARS, an employe at Mathews & Co.'s lumber mill, had his right hand badly mangled by a saw Tuesday. Two fingers and the thumb were cut off.

REV. ROBERT DICKSON, the missionary, just back from Brazil, will preach at Orangeburg M. E. Church, South, next Sunday at 11 a. m. and Olivet Church at 3 p. m. He will preach at the Maysville M. E. Church, South, Sunday, August 19th.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a god-send to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by J. Jas. Wood & Son, druggists.

ASSASSIN KNOWN,

So Detective Russell Claims in an Interview.

Chicago Record Special Gives a Sensational Story From This Detective—Implicates Youtsey.

The following special to the Chicago Record from Lexington is reproduced without further comment than that it adds a new phase to the already intricate and much confused conditions surrounding the Goebel murder and that if its contents be true is sensational in the extreme:

LEXINGTON, KY., Aug. 5.—George Russell, of New York, employed by Col. T. C. Campbell as a detective in the Goebel assassination cases, arrived in Lexington to-day from Clay County, where he had been working on the details of the tragedy. He had been to the feud county in a final effort to induce certain persons whom he learned could tell about the murder to testify in the case. Clay County is governed by officers who will not give up witnesses or prisoners should they be arrested, and the only way to get the witnesses, it is believed, would be to induce them to come to Georgetown voluntarily. Mr. Russell said:

"Kid Bowlin told be just how the plot was formed and how the assassination was executed, but I could not induce him to come and testify, nor would he agree to testify if forced to come. I worked in Clay County as a farm hand for several weeks, going to different points.

"I learned the name of the man who fired the shot. Not only this, but I learned the names of the men who were in the room when the shots were fired, what position they occupied in the room and the parts they took in the assassination. These facts I have traced down and corroborated. Col. Campbell, acting on my information, has pursued a certain line of prosecution, but Col. Franklin, the prosecuting attorney, working on the information of Detective Armstrong and others, has held him in check and wants to pursue a different course.

Franklin believes that Youtsey fired the shot. We know he did not, and we would not put Powers on trial first, but as the matter stands we feel no fear of the conviction of all the guilty parties. Had not Col. Franklin interfered Col. Campbell would have secured a complete confession from Youtsey. He had him started and Franklin broke in and said it would not do to promise Youtsey anything, and that some one else would do the confessing. So Youtsey was prevented from confessing.

"Youtsey was in the room, but did not fire the shot. He was writing on the hall door when Goebel fell. There were four other men in the room besides Youtsey. One of these fired the shot, and the other three discharged their guns into the ground through the open window.

"Youtsey is guilty and will be convicted. Until this is done we probably will not know the name of the assassin. In an open statement Youtsey will tell it before he will die carrying the secret with him. The man is in jail. Two of those who were in the room are still at large. One of them has completely disappeared and the other is at his home defying arrest."

Russell is confident that the murder will out. He says it is the most peculiar state of affairs he ever witnessed; that in the mountains the whole plot in detail is openly discussed, but that it is impossible to get the men to court. He says the assassin of Goebel borrowed $10 at London. He wanted $25 and assured the lender that he would make $1,600 in three minutes in Frankfort. In Frankfort he borrowed money on which to pay his way home, and, Russell says, the money found on Caleb Powers when arrested here was a portion of that raised to pay the assassin.

Cold Steel or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvelous power of Electric Bitters to cure stomach and liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c., at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store.
